

Tax Credits and Incentives

Supported Employment is smart business for your business and a great resource to meet your personnel needs. In addition, employers may qualify for the 'Work Opportunity Tax Credit,' which promotes the hiring of individuals who qualify by providing a federal tax credit incentive.

"The job coaches have been really essential to the success of the program."

- H.R. Director, Chef Works

History

Since 1983, Community Interface Services, a nonprofit organization, has been providing services to children and adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities.

Values

The agency was founded on the principle that people with intellectual and developmental disabilities are in the best position and have the right to determine how they want to live and work.

Mission

In order to assist people with intellectual and developmental disabilities in reaching their individual potential for community participation and independence, the mission of Community Interface Services is to provide quality, individualized, community-based support and training in employment, housing, community living, and other related services.
